Vanguard Way SOUTH-NORTH Route Description: Section C

SECTION C: BERWICK STATION TO GOLDEN CROSS

6.6 km (4.1 miles)

This second edition of the South-North version of the Route Description is based on a survey undertaken by club members in 2017. Inevitably changes to the route and facilities will occur, and we try to keep abreast of them. It is our intention to bring out an updated version of the Route Descriptions and Companion as necessary, but please refer to the Latest News page on our website www.vanguardway.org.uk for any changes that may have taken place meanwhile.

Paragraphs are numbered for ease of reference. Please note that this South-North version uses the same numbering system for locations along the route as the original North-South version, so they appear to run in reverse order, i.e. in this section from C(8.9) to C(8.1). (The individual route description paragraphs in this South-North section are preceded by the letter C to distinguish them from the North-South versions.)

The route is marked on Ordnance Survey Explorer and Landranger maps, though you should note that in some places it is incorrectly marked on some older maps - we draw your attention to specific instances where relevant. Downloadable maps in pdf format showing the correct route are available on our website. Grid references are given at each numbered point to help identify the route. The country is divided into 100 km squares identified by a two-letter code, and following standard OS practice we include these letters in our grid references. In this section they are in square TQ.

In this route description:

The actual route description is shown in black Roman (upright) text.

Links with stations and other key places off route are shown in boxes with a grey background.

Italic text is used for items that are not part of the main route description, including:

- Key information about facilities (see Vanguard Way Companion for more details)
- *Road and street names **
- Advice and asides.

* The mention of a road or street name does not necessarily mean that you will see this name on the spot, but it may be helpful if you need to be picked up or set down, or to find your position on a street map.

Underlined bold italic text indicates that more details can be found in the Commentary, which follows the route description.

Many stretches on this section cross large fields, often with no distinguishing feature to guide you. So we give a compass bearing (CB) as a guide - see the Equipment section of the Introduction to the Route.

Distances and altitudes are given in kilometres (km) and metres (m); but if you are more familiar with miles and yards, remember that 1 km is about five eighths of a mile and that 100m is about the same as 110 yards. To roughly convert metres to feet, multiply by three and add 10 per cent.

Roads with no pavement

'NP' in the route description indicates that the road has no pavement. You should take great care when walking along them, as traffic may approach at speed. Generally, you should walk in single file along the right-hand side, but this may be dangerous at a right-hand bend, where you cannot see approaching traffic, and the driver, not seeing you, may keep too close to the bend. You should therefore follow the advice given in the Highway Code for such situations, which is: 'It may be safer to cross the road well before a right-hand bend so that oncoming traffic has a better chance of seeing you. Cross back after the bend.' If walking in poor light conditions or in the dark, always wear something light, luminous or reflective on top.

Public transport

On route: Trains and buses at Berwick Station. Buses at Chalvington and Golden Cross.

Distances from Berwick Station to:

>Yew Tree Inn, Chalvington 3.9 km (2.4 miles)
Golden Cross (Deanland Road)* 6.7 km (4.2 miles)

*To the Golden Cross bus stops on the A24 add 0.5 km (0.3 miles).

Overview

Most of this sparsely populated section goes through low-lying and generally level farmland, but there are some gentle gradients soon after the start

Lowest and highest points. Chalvington Road (16m); Mays Farm (35m).

COMMENTARY

on places shown in bold italics and underlined in the route description

C(9.1)

Until 1966 the area northeast of Ludlay was the site of a brickworks, using clay from local pits and served by a narrow-gauge railway, now disappeared. Ludlay Farm occupies a compound within a high flint wall, within which all the buildings are made of flint.

C(8.9)

The isolated hilltop community of Mays consists of an impressive Georgian brick house, a farm and some farmhands' cottages. The Sussex breed of cattle originated here. Nowadays much of the farm is used as a business centre, occupied by small, specialist companies. The house was built in the mid-17th century for the Reverend John Nutt, rector of Berwick. It was the birthplace in 1835 of Nathaniel Blaker, the stern author in 1906 of a collection of moralising essays that were typical of the late Victorian and Edwardian period.

C(8.6)

The VGW follows Sheepcote Lane, as either a track or surfaced road, for just over 3 km. A glance at the map shows that it runs parallel to several other roads and tracks, which together with many parallel crossing tracks form a grid divided into multiples of the Roman actus. An actus was 120 Roman feet, and as human feet were slightly smaller in those days this corresponds to approximately 116 modern English feet (about 35 metres). You are in fact following the eastern boundary of a huge Roman agricultural estate, stretching from here south-westwards towards Ripe. The individual fields created by this grid were each five acti square, so covered 25 square acti (about 30,000 square metres). They were laid out more than sixteen centuries ago, and records indicate that it still existed in Norman times, so the grid remained in use for at least six hundred years. Time has warped or obliterated some of the Roman farm tracks but the pattern is still recognisable.

C(8.4)

We believe that one of the cottages near Mount Pleasant Farm is called Vanguard Cottage, though we have yet to establish its exact location, and whether it was named after the VGW.

C(8.3)

Limekiln Farm includes a converted former oast house. There was a brickyard here in the 18th century, run by the Guy family of Chiddingly. Note the inscription under the gable end of the house: 'DUM SPIRO SPERO' (literally 'While I breathe, I hope'; or more loosely 'Where there's life, there's hope'). A popular family motto, it was apparently added in the year 2000 as it appears below 'MM'.

C(8.1)

Golden Cross is a small settlement that developed around the former pub on the A22 London to Eastbourne road, named after the pub, which sadly closed in 2015 and was converted into flats. The former pub is a Grade II listed building, and the smart pub signs that dominate the walls cannot be removed – no doubt much to the chagrin of the residents.
